

Student Grievance Redressal System

Division of Biological and Life Sciences

Ahmedabad University

In the DBLS, an informal system of expressing grievances by students and handling that for suitable solution works well because students can approach any faculty or a Program Coordinator or even Director with their issues and problems. They have provided for a formal Student Grievance Redressal System.

Rules:

1. A student who has any grievance can call or write to the Chair Person of Student Grievance Committee of ILS.
2. The Chair Person of the Committee will look into the matter as appropriate and put up the case with the Student Grievance Committee within a period of fifteen days for suitable action.
3. The Chair Person of the Committee will communicate the decision to the concerned student within seven days of Committee's decision.
4. If the concerned student is not satisfied with the redressal action, he/she can write to the Director within one week from the date of communication of action to him/her.
5. The Director will look into the matter and take appropriate decision after hearing all concerned parties and investigating the matter. The Director will communicate the final decision the student and concerned parties within fifteen days of the appeal.
